

400 Capital Management Names Five New Investment Strategy Heads and Two Partners in Recognition of Contributions to the Firm

NEW YORK, April 15, 2025 – 400 Capital Management LLC (“400CM”), an alternative credit manager specializing in asset-based credit strategies with over $7.7 billion of assets under management, today announced five new investment strategy heads, Quinn Barton, Emir Boydag, Joe Regina, Dan Vazquez and Jeff Willoughby, all who have demonstrated strong leadership across the platform’s core strategies and diversified client mandates.

The Firm is also excited to announce that two senior team members, Kevin McAdams and Meghan Munchoff, were named Partner, each having consistently made a broad impact with exceptional leadership during their tenure at the firm.

“We are excited to recognize these members of the team for their contributions, achievements and the continued impact they will have on 400CM’s success,” said Chris Hentemann, Managing Partner and Chief Investment Officer. “Over their tenure, these individuals have played a consistent role in the growth of the firm, and we look forward to the continued success they will bring in their new roles.”

The new investment strategy roles include,

- Quinn Barton, Head of CMBS & CRE Strategy
- Emir Boydag, Head of Residential Credit Trading
- Joe Regina, Head of ABS Strategy
- Dan Vazquez, Head of Corporate & Distressed Credit Strategy
- Jeff Willoughby, Head of Residential Credit Strategy

Our new Partners roles include,

- Kevin McAdams, Partner, Business Development
- Meghan Munchoff, Partner, Head of Investor Relations

The announcement comes on the heels of 400CM closing its latest private credit fund, ABTF IV, which was oversubscribed at $1.39 billion of committed capital versus a $1 billion target. ABTF IV drew strong support from institutional investors attracted to the firm’s demonstrated track record and expertise investing across asset-based private credit strategies, with particular attention from investors looking for diversification from direct lending.
